Stop Safely Now (Oct 2023)

Supermassive Black Holes debut EP (Feb 2012)

"A grandiose and, yes, supermassive affair that moves through ... myriad other genres while still feeling as though it's an album proper rather than some loose collection of songs composed over the decade-plus since the band's self-titled debut EP."
-- The Pitch, on SMBH's Stop Safely Now

Formed in 2010 during the legendary Monday jam nights at Crosstown Station in Kansas City, Supermassive Black Holes comprises four extraordinary artists: Alexis Barclay (bass guitar, vocals), John Johnson (electric & acoustic guitar, synthesizer, vocals), Matt Davis (drums, piano, vocals), and Chad Brothers (electric & acoustic guitar, vocals). Their unique chemistry, honed over 13 years of collaboration, pushes the boundaries of sonic expression, creating a listening experience that transcends genres. Whether it's described as a stoner rock lounge act or punk rock jam band, their musical style is rich with entrancing drumming, rock-solid bass, and mesmerizing guitar work.
